

SMYRNA FIRE CLAIMS 3,000 LIVES

2,500 Buildings Are Destroyed

All U. S. Property Wiped Out—Catastrophe Greater Than Salonika Fire of 1917.

(By The Associated Press.)
CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 16.—Upward of two thousand persons perished in the fire at Smyrna; 2,500 buildings were destroyed and all American property was wiped out. The catastrophe is of much greater proportion, according to estimates, than the conflagration at Salonika in 1917, which caused a hundred millions in damage.

The property loss is estimated high into millions of dollars. With the evacuation of the British forces in the desolated city, American Blue Jackets now are the dominant factors. They are being well treated by the Kemalists who have earnestly urged them to remain and assist in restoring order and in ministering to the dying and dead. Captain H. J. Hepburn, chief of the staff to Admiral Bristol, is directing the work of the American Naval men and relief workers.

Crane Is Ill At Richmond

RICHMOND, Sept. 16.—Charles H. Crane, ambassador to China during the Wilson administration, is stopping at the Jefferson hotel preparatory to joining his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Crane, at "Westover" on the James.

Mr. Crane arrived here yesterday since that time has been ill in London. He is expected to leave for the States today.

The former ambassador declared he was primarily a business man and not a statesman, and his reason has formed no definite conclusions as to China's political future.

"The revolution in China," he said, "is not as menacing as in Russia, but the government is in a chaotic condition. The social fabric of China is inherently tough and so old that it is most probable that all the essential precepts of its people will continue, regardless of the form of government."

The establishment of a direct wireless connection with China in the near future will do much toward bringing the eastern nation in closer touch with the outside world, resulting in a better understanding of foreign countries, Mr. Crane added.

His son, Richard Crane, was recently minister to Czechoslovakia, and during the world war was private secretary to former Secretary of State Robert Lansing. A year ago he purchased historic "Westover," the home of William Byrd, founder of Richmond. Mrs. Crane was Miss Ellen Bruce of Richmond.

Probe Sudden Death of Girl

Coroner's Inquest Being Conducted Today in Connection With Miss Mattie P. Fisher's Fatal Illness.

CAPE CHARLES, Va., Sept. 16.—A coroner's inquest to determine the cause of the death of Miss Mattie P. Fisher, 23 years old, of Cape Charles, is being held this afternoon in Norfolk, where she died late Wednesday night in the Protestant hospital. Her body was taken from a room which she has occupied for a few days at 314 Beach street. In the meantime, the police are conducting an investigation directed by Dr. P. S. Schenck, director of public health, of Norfolk. The young woman's mother, Mrs. Maggie C. Fisher, lives at Temperanceville, Accomac county, Va., where there are also three sisters and four brothers. The family of Miss Fisher was not aware of her death until late yesterday, not even knowing she was ill or away from her position, where she was employed by the New York Telephone and Cable Company in Cape Charles, as a telephone operator, and worked her trick here as late as last Friday.

Upon Miss Fisher's arrival in Norfolk she rented a room at the Beach street address in the absence of Mrs. B. H. Hammett, who conducted a boarding house. When Mrs. Hammett returned from Norfolk she found the young woman ill. Miss Fisher called Mrs. Hammett not to call a physician, thinking that her illness was only temporary.

U. S. Recognizes Bootleggers For Tax Assessments

Under new rulings by the internal revenue department in Washington, which have just been received by Collector John C. Noel, bootleggers and moonshiners in the future will be given the same consideration as other people in the assessment of taxes against them. They may have a hearing, introduce evidence and be represented by counsel. Assessments against them will be made by the revenue department, rather than the prohibition director, who has made such recommendations in the past.

In addition, the bootleggers and moonshiners will be given ten days' notice of such action in the future and not called without notice, as is done at this time. The final assessment will be made by the revenue commissioner in Washington, to whom all reports and stenographic records of evidence will be sent. Under the law the assessments range from $500 to $5,000, according to the capacity of the illicit stilling and there is also a flat tax of $1,000 imposed.

Jones Demands Papers Before He Will Return

Calvin Jones, who is being held at Spray for the local authorities on a charge of embezzlement, yesterday demanded requisition papers when Sergeant J. L. Edwards and Patrolman W. C. Talley called for him, and the officers were forced to return without their prisoner. The local authorities were notified by the sheriff of Rockingham county that the man was being held and asked that officers be sent for him stating that he was willing to return to Danville.

Upon arrival, Sergeant Edwards learned that the man showed unwillingness to return and had retained an attorney. Requisition papers were demanded and these will have to be issued now before Jones can be brought here.

Take Gold-Laden Booze Ship Into N. Y. As a Prize

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The two-masted schooner H. M. Gardner was brought into port today by the dry dock navy boat Taylor, and 100 cases of liquor and $56,000 in gold was taken to the customs house. The Gardner was seized last night off Scotland.

The Gardner, of British registry, is one of the largest vessels ever taken by the local prohibition navy. According to Captain Betts log she was 27.75 miles off shore when she was seized.

Betts admitted that his ship had been in the business of carrying liquor for several months. He denied bootlegging on American shores, but admitted that he had been delivering liquor to the coast. The boat was found aboard, the prohibition agents said.

Captain M. C. Betts, who said he was the Gardner's skipper, declared he was going from Nova Scotia to Nassau when the Taylor's crew boarded him. He said he had been delivering 1,000 cases of liquor and was taking the 100 seized cases back to Nassau because it had not been accepted by his purchasers.

Betts said that he first thought the prohibition boat was filled with pirates and cleared his ship intending to ram her, but the revenue men turned their searchlight on their own ship and he allowed them to come aboard.

Copeland On His Way To Baltimore

R. C. Copeland who was arrested here a few days ago charged with the theft of an automobile belonging to W. C. Ganster, of Baltimore, was taken back to Baltimore this morning on a requisition which was honored by Governor Trinkle yesterday. A Baltimore police detective arrived here last night and this morning took charge of the prisoner and Ganster's car in which the return trip is to be made. Copeland is said to have stolen the car from its parked position near a Baltimore theater where the owner was attending a performance.

According to Jailer Nelson Dixon, the man made an abortive effort to escape. He was locked in a cell, one of which had been previously taken through. He was found in possession of a pocket knife and a saw and there were indications that the sawing had been removed, although the jailer did not catch the man in the overt act of sawing.

BILLY SUNDAY MAY BE ASKED TO COME HERE

Baseball Evangelist Now Conducting Revival in Lynchburg Likely to Be Invited for a Monday Sermon in Danville.

It is understood that plans are being made by a local organization to bring Rev. William A. Sunday or "Billy" Sunday to the city. Sunday is a popular preacher from Lynchburg to preach a sermon at the Ridge Street tabernacle. Mr. Sunday opened a six weeks revival in the Hill City last Sunday and is drawing large crowds to a tobacco warehouse which has been converted into a tabernacle with a seating capacity for 5,500.

It has been the custom of Mr. Sunday of observe Monday as his rest day, that is to say he preaches no sermons in the city where the revival is being held, but frequently makes expeditions with his group of assistants to nearby towns for single sermons.

The plan is to take advantage of this and to bring the noted baseball evangelist to Danville for a tabernacle meeting one Monday night during the campaign. If this were done there is little doubt that he would fill the Ridge street structure to its doors.

The campaign committee in Lynchburg has already sent notices to the Danville churches saying that a delegation to Lynchburg from Danville would be welcomed. This is frequently done in the Sunday meetings, special nights being set aside for the reception of delegations from neighboring towns.

It is practically assured in any event that many Danville people will go to Lynchburg to hear the revivalist while he is preaching there.

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The general chairman of the shop workers of the Southern Railway is in conference today with Vice-President Miller to arrange an agreement on the basis of the Warfield-Willard-Jewell proposal which would end the strike over the system. Confidence was expressed by the contracting parties that little difficulty would be encountered in reaching an agreement.

Shopmen of the Southern Railway were expecting today that some agreement would be reached in Washington during the course of the day which would permit a resumption of work on Monday morning. No local decisions will be made. J. M. Ellis, general chairman of the federated crafts, will negotiate for the men who work in the Southern and the Danville and Western shops.

Admiral Sims Soon Will Be Free To Talk

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Rear Admiral William Snowden Sims, stormy petrel of the navy and the most picturesque naval figure developed by the war, goes on the retired list October 15.

Quiet since the reprimand administered to him because of his London criticism of Irish syndicates, Admiral Sims is understood to be planning to give expression to some of the thoughts that have been bottled up within him by the discipline attaching to a career officer and some startling utterances are expected.

Admiral Sims will be succeeded as head of the Naval War College at Newport, R. I., by Rear Admiral Clarence S. Williams.

Admiral Sims, whose tendency to get into trouble, has made him a marked figure, retires after a career of distinguished service, varied by episodes resulting in two reprimands for indiscreet utterances. On numerous occasions he has been at odds with the department and has never hesitated to express his opinions.

Admiral Williams was chief of the war plans section of naval operations just before the war, and previously Vice Admiral of the Pacific fleet in charge of battleships. During the war he was chief of staff of the battleship forces of the Atlantic fleet. He was born in Ohio, appointed from that state and was graduated from the naval academy in 1884.

Snead Acquitted For Second Time

Jury Deliberated for Four Hours Before Returning Verdict—Defendant Is Bonded for Next Term of Court.

After deliberating for nearly four hours the jury trying W. M. Snead for grand larceny yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock brought a verdict acquitting him of the charge. The jury is understood to have stood 10 to 1 for acquittal throughout the deliberations. Snead was acquitted on a similar indictment at a previous term of court this being his second exoneration in a stolen car case at the hands of a corporation court jury.

After the verdict had been returned the commonwealth's attorney asked that the defendant be bonded until the next criminal term of court which will be November and Snead gave the same security of $5,000. J. H. Osborne got his bond.

In some quarters the view was expressed yesterday that in view of the difficulty the state encountered in securing the presence here of witnesses one feared that the state might be further hampered. There are eleven men from across the state line who are witnesses in all of the cases against Snead. Eight of them appeared at the present term of court, one of them only after pressure had been exerted to bring him to Danville. Some of the witnesses have been to Danville four or five times in the last year.

JAPANESE FRIENDSHIP

Secretary Denby returns from the Far East with the assurance that Japan is loyal both to the letter and to the spirit of the treaties signed at the Washington conference. Other reliable travelers bring back the same accounts. Only on rare occasions does some mischievous pessimist now insinuate that the Pacific empire signatory to those treaties with its thumbs crossed. The fact seems assured that the Washington conference killed the Japanese bogie-man beyond much possibility of immediate resurrection. Before the meeting of world powers in Washington a coming war with Japan was discussed in all quarters of American society, not as a remote possibility but as a certainty. Now war with Japan as a subject for American conjecture has been laid under the table. We never hear the faintest suggestion of its possibility.

There never was the slightest reason to believe that Japan was not honest and sincere in its intentions. She had feared a war with the United States as much as the United States had feared a war with her. She does not want war if it can be avoided—particularly a war in which her defeat would be an almost foregone conclusion. The outcome of the Washington conference shows clearly how unsubstantial were the predictions of the American public and how the unfavorable opinion of the United States underrated Japanese intelligence.

Wars, in these days, are won by the strongest side. Neither personal nor collective bravery counts for much so far as eventual results are concerned. Military skill counts for even less. Wars are won by the nation with the greatest reserves of manpower, the greatest reserves of gold, the greatest reserves of food and coal and oil. Japanese intelligence was underrated indeed by those who insinuated that she, who could count at the best only bravery and military skill, would seek a war with a nation by whom she was so far outnumbered in all the essentials for ultimate victory.

We are glad to hear Mr. Denby's account of actual conditions in Japan. There is no reason why the two nations cannot continue indefinitely on the same friendly basis that exists at present. Only a revival of groundless suspicions on both sides of the Pacific can bring about the old conditions again under which both countries seemed at times ready to jump at each other's throat on the slightest pretext.

The threat of a great war is removed. The United States is able to devote herself with undivided attention to strengthening her industrial prosperity, to raising the standards of living of her people. Japan is able to devote undivided attention to seeking her place in the sun by peaceful methods.

Little Miss Caroline Brockman, who underwent an operation at Edmunds' Hospital on Thursday, is reported as doing nicely.

(Continued from page one.) state of terror. Only five thousand women and children of the sixty thousand who were there three days ago remain in Mudania, according to advices received from Captain Adams, commanding an American submarine chase which is in Mudania harbor. A message from Ankara received here at 2 o'clock this afternoon announces the fall of Panderma, the last foothold of the Greeks in Asia Minor, to the Turks. Most of the Greeks third army corps was safely evacuated toward their base.

UTTER COLLAPSE OF GREEK ARMY IN ASIA MINOR

LONDON, Sept. 15.—(By The Associated Press.)—With the utter collapse of the Greek Army in Asia Minor before the Turks, the long smoldering "Near Eastern" problem again has suddenly been brought up, and in some quarters is considered as constituting a threat against the peace and well-being of Europe, owing to the differing interests and conflicting views of the principal allied governments. It is considered no longer a mere question between the Turks and the Greeks, but to have developed into a direct conflict between Turkey and the Allied powers.

The center of the problem concerns the future fate of Constantinople and Thessalonica and herein lies the principal difference between Great Britain and France. Great Britain desires to keep the Turks out of Europe, and France is believed to sympathize with the Turks, and to desire them to regain Eastern Thrace.

Jugoslavians and the other nations of the little entente, would, however, fiercely oppose the Turks being readmitted to Thrace, and it is believed in some quarters that an attempt to start the pretensions of the Kemalists. There is a general feeling reflected in official circles in London that the British policy toward the Turks which has been apparent for several years will be continued to the bitter end. It is known that the Turks long have been of the belief that Great Britain was seeking their extermination—their reduction to a little agricultural people incapable of taking part in European affairs.

With the Turks already ready to live or to die by the national pact of Angora, which they declare already has been consecrated by the blood of many thousands of their dead soldiers, a deadlock is thought in some quarters to have been created which diplomacy may not be able to break.

The latest dispatch from Constantinople regarding the fatalities in Smyrna said thousands "of persons were believed to have perished." Previous reports had indicated that the fatalities were between one and two thousand. It is thought that the one hundred and twenty thousand

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 15.—Five blocks of commodity wharves along the river front from Kentucky Avenue to Batholomew Street were destroyed by a fire tonight which broke out in a car load of barging alongside the docks.

Twenty-one box cars of burlap, four carloads of cotton bagging and 4,000 rolls of press paper consigned to the New Orleans firm and States together with a quantity of cotton, oil, sisal and other merchandise were consumed.

The fire was discovered by Sam B. Garrett, a dock watchman. The burned wharves were under the control of the state dock board. Every available fire engine in the city assisted by several on river tugs were fighting the blaze which at 11 o'clock was not under control. The firemen were attempting to prevent the blaze spreading to the warehouses which line the water front.

No accurate estimation of the loss could be learned at this hour but it was believed that it would be several million dollars.

St. Louis Woman Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Louis, Mo.—"I was bothered with cramps and pains every month and had to go to bed as I could not work. My mother and my whole family says I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for such troubles and they induced me to try it and it has helped me very much. I don't have cramps any more, and I can do my housework all through the month. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends for female troubles."

Mrs. DAZILA SCHOLZ, 1412 Salisbury Street, St. Louis, Mo.

Just think for a moment. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been in use for nearly fifty years. It is prepared from medicinal plants, by the utmost pharmaceutical skill, and superior methods. The ingredients thus combined in the Compound correct the conditions which cause such annoying symptoms as had been troubling Mrs. Scholz. The Vegetable Compound exercises a restorative influence of the most desirable character, correcting the trouble in a gentle but efficient manner. This is noted by the disappearance, one after another, of the disagreeable symptoms.

Find No Trace Of Desperado

Clyde Rouse, Self-Confessed Murderer and Escaped Convict, Remains at Large—Trail Is Lost.

PETERSBURG, Va., Sept. 16.—No trace has yet been found of Clyde Rouse, self-confessed murderer and escaped convict from the Alabama state prison, and the negro who is alleged to have robbed and set fire to a Sussex county store several weeks ago, who escaped from two Sussex county officers Tuesday afternoon while being taken from the city jail here to Sussex courthouse for trial.

The negro's trail was lost by bloodhounds Tuesday afternoon, and the authorities believe he has made his way out of the county and state. Citizens who formed for a man hunt when the negro's escape became known were reluctant to go into the woods after him, because the fugitive is regarded as one of the most desperate characters the police of this section have encountered in several years.

Officers Mayes and Grant, the county men taking the prisoner from this city to Sussex in an automobile, owe their lives to the fact that the negro did not know how to work an automatic pistol, which he grabbed from the seat of the automobile while the officers were repairing a tire.

Shot Five Times at Negro
When the officers' automobile reached a point about three miles from Sussex courthouse a tire blew out. Both officers left the machine to repair it, leaving the negro in the machine. One of the officers left his pistol on the seat, and while the men were fixing the tire, Rouse grabbed the weapon and covered his captors. He attempted to shoot, but the gun failed to work, and he forced the officers away from the machine while he made a dash for liberty.

Officer Mayes fired five times at the man, but whether he was hit the officers could not say.

Rouse was captured in a man hunt after the store of Mayes & Crowder.

at Sussex, Sussex county, had been robbed and set afire. He confessed he robbed the store, while loot from other stores in nearby counties was found in his possession.

The authorities were certain they had the person responsible for the many store robberies in the surrounding counties and the negro was brought to the jail here for safekeeping.

Desperado Makes Threat

While confined here the negro confessed he had killed two other negroes in Alabama and that he had escaped from the state prison while serving a long term for robbery. Investigation of his claims bore out his statements. Rouse also made the threat while in jail here that he would escape and would kill the magistrate before whom he was given a hearing at Stony Creek on the charge of breaking into the Sussex store.

As a result of these threats extra precautions have been taken by residents of that neighborhood, while county officers feel certain that the negro will return to that community and attempt to terrorize the residents.

The request of the governor of Alabama that Rouse be returned to that state to finish serving his unexpired prison term was refused by the Sussex authorities and his trial on the burglary and arson charge was to have been held the afternoon of the day he made his escape.

Says He Gave Love To Partner's Wife

Mrs. Goodridge Vows Husband Taught Her to Drink Tried to Stab Him, He Charges.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Mrs. William E. Goodridge, of Hempstead applied yesterday to Supreme Court Justice Lewis, in Brooklyn, for $1,000 a month alimony and $5,000 counsel fee pending the trial of her suit for separation. Her husband is an insurance broker of No. 55 Beaver street, Manhattan. His wife estimated his income at $30,000 a year.

Mrs. Goodridge charged that her husband has "bestowed his love" and his attentions on "another woman," Lawrence M. Beatty, who was formerly associated with Goodridge in business. Mrs. Goodridge declared her husband arranged for Beatty to go to Europe on a trip. Before Beatty left, he began to want to get away from his wife, but feels that he has been "crazy" to desire his freedom after he and his wife have actually been apart a short time.

"Wait until you've been married six or seven years and you'll have the same ideas," O'Connell said Goodridge told him. Goodridge denied the charges and said his wife had been so fond of intoxicants that, once he was married, he placed her for a time in a sanitarium. He said that at times, under the influence of liquor, she attacked him with a knife.

Mrs. Goodridge said that her husband who married her when she was eighteen, got her in the habit of drinking by taking her to places where drinks were served. Decision was reserved.

John F. O'Connell, a friend of the pair, said that one day he met Goodridge in Manhattan and that Goodridge said that after a man was married, he begins to want to get away from his wife, but feels that he has been "crazy" to desire his freedom after he and his wife have actually been apart a short time.

Million Dollar Hospital Urged For Willoughby

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 16.—A new $1,000,000 hospital may be built at Willoughby Beach by the United States Veterans Bureau.

The first movements toward obtaining the government's approval of the Willoughby site was begun last night by the Norfolk post of the American Legion, at its September meeting in the Navy Y. M. C. A. committee will go before the City Council with its information as to the Veterans Bureau's plans and ask for the cooperation of the city authorities.

When the Langeley bill, appropriating $17,000,000 for hospitals was passed and the money made available, $1,000,000 of that amount was allotted to the Fourth district of the Veterans Bureau, of which Virginia is a part. A committee from the bureau, in this district has approved the Willoughby proposition, after an investigation of suggested sites.

Germans Too Poor To Take Ocean Trip

BERLIN, Sept. 16.—Americans still do not seem to realize that Germany is shut off from the rest of the world by an insurmountable wall of pauperism, or they would not invite Germans to make pleasure trips to the United States for the moderate price of $120, says the Neue Berliner, commenting on advertisements of American shipping agencies in German papers.

The invitation sounds like bitter irony, considering that $120 is the average annual income of a well-paid workman, or half a year's salary of the better-paid Government officials who may have to support their wives and families.

"What the middle-class American considers a 'vacation trip' is at the present time exorbitant luxury in the eyes of millions of impoverished Germans. We should like to remind the American people of these facts, so that they see what sort of an ordeal we have to pass through."

Princess Reported Good Housekeeper

LONDON, Sept. 16.—Princess Mary is making an excellent housewife.

That is what they are saying up in Yorkshire, where the Princess and her Viscount husband have been spending the late summer weeks.

Yorkshire standards are very high, too. The Princess has won the hearts of all of the Yorkshire country people and is most popular in the villages surrounding her country home. She frequently goes into the village to shop personally, and her tours are always the subject of much discussion.

An old Yorkshire shoekeeper has given away one of the royal secrets. He is the authority for the statement that the Princess has a weakness for royal pictures.

Whenever she visits this old gentleman's shop she always spends a considerable amount of time looking over the photographs of the members of her own family. The Princess is a great seeker for antiques and never misses a chance to pick up an old treasure from an old shop.

FUNERAL OF MISS WOOD.

Half-Millionaire "Cop" Patrolled Beat In Auto

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Police Sergeant John Willard Greene is up on charges of neglect of duty, and a real estate office attached to the American Security and Trust Company while he was supposed to be attending to his duty. He told the police lieutenants who caught him at it that this was to make inquiries about a ring lost by his wife, whereas the suspicion is that he was asking about some real estate investments.

Sergeant Greene happens to be worth half a million dollars, much of it in Washington real estate. The stern order Greene violated forbids sergeants and patrolmen going to and from their beats, or patrolling their beats, in their cars.

Police Secretary Sworn In Today

J. C. Elliott, appointed yesterday as police secretary was sworn in today by Mayor Woodling and will on Monday begin his regular duties. The office was recently created by the city council and the appointment was made by the finance committee yesterday.

The secretary's duties will be chiefly keeping the books of the police department and also keeping crime records properly classified.

Police Officer Andrew Perkins has been appointed temporarily day desk sergeant to take the place of the late B. F. Morrisette until the police commission can select a man permanently for the place.

Police headquarters already has a more business-like air with the rooms re-carpeted and the furniture repainted. The appointment of the police secretary is a relief of tedious detail work and he said today that he expected to spend a good part of his time on the street in touch with the police force. He will, however, have regular office hours to meet the public.

Rally Day At the Mt. Vernon Church

Mount Vernon Methodist Church will observe its rally day tomorrow at the Sunday-school hour. There will be a special programme after each class has had its regular Sunday lesson. The classes will form at 9:35, earlier than usual in order to allow time for the programme which will later be given. An especial effort is being made to reach old scholars and to revive their interest in the Sunday-school work.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1933.

THE LAST OF THE WOODEN SHIPS.

The only extant herd of white elephants has been sold.

Reference is made to the 288 wooden ships which were built during the stressful war period and which were to bridge the Atlantic by keeping a flow of men and munitions abroad.

They were, comparatively speaking, small ships, and were intended to meet the inroads which had been made by the unrestricted submarine warfare.

Each ship cost approximately one million dollars, a figure which seems outlandish today, but which was not actually so when one considers the period during which they were constructed.

Material was high and labor at the shipyards was being paid at a rate which tempted the best efforts.

Despite the earnest representations made by shipping men, the great programme was carried through and ship after ship went down the ways on Hog Island and new keels were laid.

Virtually all of the vessels had been launched when the armistice came and there arose a visionary horror of $288,000,000 spent on a project which suddenly had become useless.

Small blame lies there for we were living in a period of "do or die." Nobody could afford to hold the national purse strings on the vague assumption that the war would soon be over.

And so it was that America's white elephants glistening in their new battleship grey—some of them fantastically camouflaged, took to the sea but only to ride idly at anchor, rising and sinking with the ebb and flow of the tide in James river, waiting for something to turn up.

Long strings of these serviceable ships have lain idle for two years and now they have been sold. Herein lies the great tragedy.

Nearly three million dollars worth of shipping was knocked out under the hammer for less than the cost of one of them.

The whole batch went for $150,000 and not one of them will ever raise its flag and contend for commerce in the maritime highways.

It is stipulated in the sale that they be junked, that is to say the purchaser has bought them for the material he can save.

We can recall no more unfortunate national investment than this. It hardly reflects upon poor business judgment, for had the war continued they might have proved a salvation.

About the only compensation is the fact that the sale wipes the books clear of a troublesome reminder.

It is a closed chapter now and the government at least will be spared the expense which has been accumulating for the past two years in the upkeep up a fleet which went little further than the launching yards of the yards.

FRAZIER SHOULD BE ACQUITTED?

(The Danville Register.) Public utterances on the streets last night were one hundred per cent in favor of "Rube" Frazier being acquitted after hearing the verdict of the Snead case, with which The Register is fully in accord.

The guilt of Snead or Frazier was not commented on, but the opinion of all was that a gross injustice had been committed, when two men have been tried on practically the same evidence, and one is acquitted on two charges while the other is handed out a six-year sentence in the state penitentiary.

We fully believe that if one is guilty then both are guilty, while on the other hand, if one is acquitted then both should be set free.

Although our court system is considered the best in the world it goes to show how uncertain a man's freedom is in the hands of a jury.

Both were tried before the same judge and were represented by the same counsel, but each case had a different jury.

OPEN AUCTION TOBACCO MARKET AT CARTHAGE

CARTHAGE, Sept. 15.—The Carthage tobacco market for the sale of tobacco by auction opened Tuesday.

There was a large number of farmers present. The Carthage market made an average of $12.47 a hundred pounds, which was considered excellent as most of the weed on the floor was of rather low grade.

The total amount sold was around 45,000 lbs. The co-operative warehouse will be open on September 18 and 19, and will receive tobacco on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week.

PLEASANT GAP, Sept. 15.—(Grapevine Wireless.)—If women flirt and invite attention, they are generally happily married; and if they are demure and distant, the chances are they are looking for a life mate.

If they talk wisely about current questions, they are really a parrot knowledge of things; and if they listen adoringly when a man explains hard things, they know everything there is to know.

If they seem quiet and good, they are wild; if they are wild, they are prim and oldmaidish at heart.

If they talk about a career, they are seeking a home; and if they talk about having a home, they are simply talking for effect.

If they wear bright colors, thin hose, short skirts, bobbed hair and heavy make up, they are probably forty.

If they wear black gowns of a modest cut, they are young.

If they are frivolous, they hide an aching heart; and if they are sad and pensive, it is to bring out their best features, usually the eyes.

If they act as if they love you, they consider you an acquaintance, casual and safe; and if they are coy and unresponsive, they adore you.

So, they are just the reverse of what they seem—and yet—

If you act on that supposition, you find that particular occasion is the exception.

"But it is not every story that has to do with the weakness of the human soul? Even you—"

"A woman of your sort walking barefoot up in a wilderness, remembering the world, remembering the life in its very day—"

"I will explain." The sleekly coiffured brown head bent low over hands that played absently with their jewels.

"To a woman of my sort, monsieur, life is not life without love. I lived once for a little time, then love was taken out of my life. When my sorrow had spent itself, I knew that I must find love again if I were to go on living. What was I to do? I know that love is not found through seeking. So I waited . . ."

"But this is not writing to my bankers, monsieur," she said in a changed but steady voice. "I must do that at once if I am to get the letter in today's post."

CHAPTER IX
The Blow From the Dark

IN short, Monsieur Duchemin considered convalescence at the Chateau de Montalais one of the most agreeable of human estates.

But now an end. Tomorrow the detectives commissioned by Madame de Montalais's bankers would arrive. Tomorrow Eve would set out on her journey to Paris.

Tomorrow Duchemin must walk forth from the Chateau de Montalais and turn his back on that that was most dear to him in life.

On that last night, Eve smoked only one cigarette with Duchemin in the drawing room after dinner, then excused herself to wait on Madame de Montalais and finish her packing.

"I shall miss you, monsieur. The chateau will seem lonely when I return."

"And the world, madame," said Duchemin—"the world into which I must go—it, too, will seem a lonely place—a desert, haunted . . ."

"You will soon forget . . . Chateau de Montalais."

"Forget when all I shall have will be my memories."

"Yes," she said, "we shall both have memories . . . And suddenly the rich, deep voice quoted in English: 'Memories like almighty wine.'"

She offered to disengage her hand, but Duchemin tightened gently the pressure of his fingers, bowing over it. His lips touched her hand for a moment; then he released it. She went swiftly to the door, faltered, turned.

"We shall see each other in the morning—to say au revoir. With us, monsieur, it must never be adieu."

She was gone; but she had left Duchemin with a ringing heart that would not let him sleep when he had gone to bed.

Till long after midnight he tossed restlessly, bedeviled alternately by melancholy and exhilaration.

He heard the clock strike two, and shortly after, in a fit of exasperation, lighted the candle, found his book, and fumbled vainly for a cigarette.

What greater folly could there be than to want a cigarette and do without one when there were plenty in the drawing room, to be had for the taking? He rose and left his chamber.

Shielding the candle flame with his hand, he gained the drawing room as noiselessly as any ghost.

The fire had died down till only embers glowed, faint under films of ash.

The cigarettes were not where he had expected to find them, near one end of a certain table. Duchemin put down the candlestick and moved toward the other end, discovering the box he sought as soon as his back was turned to the light. In the same breath this last went out.

He stood for a moment transfixed in astonishment. There were no windows open, no draughts. An immense hour to happen to one, at such a hour, in such a place . . .

He turned back to relight the candle. It was gone.

"I Want Other Women To Know What I Suffered!"—Peggy Beal

PEGGY BEAL

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 15.—Three hundred men have written Peggy Beal, slayer of Frank Anderson, "the perfect lover," asking her to marry them. Among the suitors for the hand of the fair slayer are ministers. Also many men who claim to have great riches.

Peggy Beal, who shot and killed Anderson, scion of an old Philadelphia family, in a hotel room in Kansas City, June 3, has just left the hospital where she has recovered from wounds inflicted upon herself after shooting Anderson.

She is charged with murder and will face a jury in Kansas City in the near future. She herself is the moving spirit back of plans for an early trial.

"I want to stand before the world vindicated," she said. "I want other women to know what I suffered. I want them to know that I killed Anderson to save other women from his clutches."

Minister Proposes

Meantime the proposals of marriage come flooding in. In one of them, a man calling himself a Detroit minister, says in part:

"I am sure you are not all bad. No woman could have written the wonderful love thoughts that you have uttered and be bad at heart. I would like to make you my wife and lift you up from the depths of despair."

"As a minister, it is my duty to offer you a haven in my heart and home."

Peggy Beal, before revealing the letter clipped the writers name from it. She said she would not give out the names of any of those who have written love letters to her.

A man describing himself as a Galveston, Tex., sea captain wrote that he was sure he could make her forget the drear days that have followed the killing of Anderson.

"If you marry me I will see that you forget the past," he wrote. "I am not so terribly handsome or so terribly good, but I would be willing to give every hour in the day to trying to make you happy."

"If you will say the word, I will get a year's leave from my work and will come to Kansas City at once."

From San Diego another man writes:

From a Widower

"First I must confess I am a widower but in that confession I ought to make myself more desirable to you, for I have learned how to put up with the whims of women."

"I have read that you trusted Frank Anderson and then learned he had 60 other sweethearts."

"I want to say that I never have paid court to more than one woman at a time. You could count on me being loyal and true to you."

Peggy has not answered the letters—at least not many of them.

One of the letters, she says, is from a former convict.

"I have had my troubles and you have had yours," he writes from near San Quentin, Cal.

"I have $90 I made doing fancy work while in prison. I'd like to send you that to come out here and we would see if we couldn't be happier together."

"Please answer at once whether you would marry a former convict, if he is trying to do right now."

Love letters do not thrill Peggy Beal as they once did, she says. It was when Frank Anderson, just out of the army, wrote such strong protestations of love that she received her greatest thrill.

"The Perfect Lover," the young woman styled Anderson, when she spoke of him to other women.

She exhibited letters from which the following is an excerpt:

"Dearest Peg: I have just finished reading one of the most wonderful books, Thuvia—Maid of Mars. Honestly, sweetheart, I never knew I was such a big cry baby. I read it with a handkerchief in the left hand and I had to use constantly to clear my visage. If you have not read it, by all means get a copy."

Apparently Peggy got a copy for, after Anderson had come to Kansas City to join her, he was found dead in the room. It was from bullet wounds inflicted by her in a hotel room. By her side lay a copy of the book, "Thuvia—Maid of Mars." It was open at an illustration of Thuvia, chambermaid of the hotel, standing over the dead body of her victim, a dagger in her hand.

List of Women

A list of women, a list printed carefully with a pencil by Anderson, found in the room. It was the list that brought death to Anderson, according to the story police say Peggy told them. She chided him about failing to keep a promise to marry her, she is alleged to have said, and he showed her the list.

"Peg, I'm a devil—I love no woman," he said.

A bullet from Peg's pistol was her answer.

BABY'S SMILE SAVES "HUNGER SHIP" CREW

PICTURES SHOW MRS. MADGE JANSEN AND THE INFANT "MARINER" THE "FAMINE SHIP" WILLIAM H. JOHNSON, AND PART OF THE CREW.

That's what save gaunt and bearded men who made up the crew of the "famine ship" William H. Johnson, and the story: 123 days of calm and hunger—123 days with nothing but tinned and spoiled food aboard—long, terrible days beneath a merciless sun, with death constantly looming as the home port.

But there was a tiny mite of life on board; a 6-month-old babe, born on shipboard before the trip became a nightmare cruise. And there was a mother, Mrs. Madge Jansen, wife of the skipper, Captain Nels Jansen and three children, to whom the sea has long been a home. It was her subed faith and courage—that and the tiny life—that held up the morale of weak and dizzy sailors.

The ship took grub at New Zealand. Then, at sea, it was found to be spoiled. Some of the men were sick and dizzy from eating the food. "And then," say the sailors, "we'd see that little shipmate laughing and gurgling all over the deck. We just couldn't quit in that spirit."

"So we took to shooting seabirds and caught some sharks to fill out the larder.

Port was finally reached.

L'Esprit and Lea took the next three places, followed by British Caryl, the American Clyde and the British Jean.

ARGUE AGAINST RATE CHANGES

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 15.—Carriers indicate in their proposals for a new schedule of freight rates that they do not realize the South is passing through an important economic period which would be virtually affected by the plan they suggest, according to Henry T. Moore, secretary and traffic manager of the Atlanta Freight Bureau, who is a witness before the Interstate Commerce Commission's examiner in the southern freight rate hearing here.

The hearings are being conducted to arrive at a basis for a reconstruction of railroad rates in the South. Mr. Moore, who took the stand at the resumption of the hearing here Thursday is expected to occupy the session again tomorrow. His testimony purports to show that changes in rate schedules proposed by the railroads would create instead of eliminate discrimination. At today's session he presented an exhibition showing the South in its present and past industrial production, to support his argument as the growth of the South.

KLANMAN HEAD CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 15.—W. V. Guerrard, former King Kluge of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan in North Carolina, surrendered to the Sheriff of Wake county, this afternoon and arranged bond in the amount of $10,000 to answer charges in Bryson City, N. C., of embezzlement of $17,000, belonging to the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

The warrant was sworn out by H. N. Littlejohn, assistant justice of the Peace C. H. Meadows, of Bryson City, and was forwarded to the sheriff of Wake county to serve. Guerrard surrendered to the officers before service.

Details of the charges made against the klanman are not known here. Recently, Dr. W. E. Thompson, personal representative of the Imperial Wizard, announced that Guerrard had been deposed as King Kluge because of a shortage in his funds, that a complete check of Klan activities in the state was in progress, and that warrants would be issued.

By the Associated Press—British six meter yacht gained another clean victory in the annual regatta, which was contested race from American craft off here today, winning the fifth race of the International Series for British-American cup by a margin of 13 points to 17.

The United States however, retained the lead in total points for the series, 97 to 82 and Great Britain's chances for victory can be realized only by making a clean sweep of the four places in the sixth and final race scheduled tomorrow.

British craft finished one-two today twice around the six mile leeward and windward course. Norman Clark Neill's Reg leading the fleet in lapped time of 2 hours four minutes with F. J. Stephens Collis, III, winner yesterday's race, ten seconds behind. The American Yacht Grebe.

MISS STERLING AND MRS. GAVIN MEET TODAY

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 15.—Miss Alexa Sterling of New York, and Atlanta, former American Women's golf champion, and Mrs. W. A. Gavin, of the Hunter Combe Club, England, former New York player, will meet tomorrow in the final round for the Canadian Women's Championship. In the semi-finals this afternoon, Miss Sterling defeated Miss Sydney Pepper, of Toronto, one up, while Mrs. Gavin eliminated Miss Joyce Hutton, of Toronto 2 and 1.

CRUCIAL GAME OF YEAR WILL BE PLAYED HERE TODAY WITH DUNCANITES

The invincibility of Green in the pinches and the wonderful support accorded the portwheeler by Baker and Murphy tell the tale of Danville's defeat of Raleigh yesterday by the score of 5 to 0. By losing the Duncanites are crowding the Abbotts on the lowest rung of the Piedmont ladder. One or the other team will have to get off in today's game and descend just a little lower to subterranean regions where, at least, facilities for hibernating will be good.

Report has it that the temperature is just a bit warmer in the Plutonian quarters of subcellarism, and inferentially more comfortable than on the cold, bleak heights where the penitents waves. And mixing the metaphor still more, but keeping it warm, it is certainly true that second division teams are held in warmer steam in the "Glove League," which is about to open, than those teams that are in on the money of post-season series.

It's seldom a team, occupying the position that Danville unfortunately does, arrives at a crucial game on the last day of the series. Were Danville tied for first place with Raleigh there could not be more interest in the game today than is the case with both teams struggling to keep from being pushed by the other into the bottomless pit in highbrow league (the game today) should prove a Homeric struggle. Danville has taken the dust of the five other clubs for so long a period it will be exceedingly gratifying to each and every member of the team to have the one club trailing. On the other hand Raleigh has no particular hankering even for such a pleasant winter rest as pictured above. The North Carolina team cannot be first and it would not be last. Both positions are conspicuous—with a difference. The game today will be preceded by field day events, beginning at 2:30 o'clock. These athletic contests will be by way of a relish for the piece de resistance of the afternoon, which is scheduled to start at 4:00 sharp. The program for the field day, which consists of nine events, follows:

- 1—100-yard dash
- 2—Fungo hitting
- 3—Bunt and run to first
- 4—Circling the bases
- 5—Accurate throwing
- 6—Obstacle race
- 7—Potato race (between Manager Duncan and Manager Abbott)
- 8—Distance throwing
- 9—Relay race (four men from each team)

To return to yesterday's game: It was necessary for the locals to cop the contest in order to have a chance to oust Raleigh out of fifth position, the best that Danville could hope for, but none the less coveted. So the battle began in grim earnest with Green on the mound.

The game started off rather inauspiciously for Danville. The first two men up for Raleigh obtained hits. Winston led off with an attempt to bunt, which he beat out, although Murphy made a splendid pick-up and a still more wonderful throw. Duncan singled and both men were advanced a base by Allen. The mighty Floyd came to the bat and the fans held their collective breath; for Floyd has a disconcerting way of parking the ball at critical moments. But he succumbed to the potency of Green's benders. The best Johnston could do was to hit to Murphy who threw to first.

The locals were more fortunate in the first. Baker was walked; Stinson running for him. McMillan essayed a bunt which fooled through Smith's hands on a bad bound for an infield hit. Johnson hit to center and as there was a possibility of the ball being caught, Stinson was held at third. Trexler fouled out to catcher, but Murphy came clean with a single to right and two men scored. In the second Danville scored two more runs. Abbott and Green both struck out. Baker then singled and Stinson again ran for him. McMillan secured his second single and Johnson followed suit. Stinson scoring. Trexler hit to Lennon who threw the ball too high and McMillan scored. Danville's last run came in the fifth. Johnson walked, was sacrificed to second by Trexler and scored on Murphy's hit. Thus it will be seen that Murphy drove in three of Danville's runs. Raleigh threatened to score in the third, sixth and ninth, but were held at bay by the pitching of Green and brilliant fielding behind him.

Trace Criminals By Analysis Of Air They Breathe

PARIS, Sept. 15.—Analysis of the air breathed by a criminal is the newest aid to the French police in identifying malefactors. They scientifically examine the air in the room in which he operated then examine the man, and reach a definite answer to the question whether the man exhaled while at work, he can be traced as surely as if he had left his calling card.

The machine does this as part of a crime detector system which was shown to police commissioner Enright, of New York City, on his recent visit to Paris. It is based on science applied to the detection and identification of criminals. If the Paris police wishes to show that a man was at a given place at a given hour, they do not spend days trying to find witnesses. They prove it by the air he breathed; by the clothes he wore, and by several other scientific records which they say cannot be denied. There is no room for doubt in their say, such is their confidence in the accuracy of their deductions.

When a crime has been committed the scientists, in their well-equipped laboratory, are notified. They crowd into a big automobile, filled with scientific instruments, and proceed to the scene. There is the expert photographer; the artist to make sketches; the chemist, and the man to operate the spectroscopic. The last mentioned takes a section of the air for future careful analysis. Each of the other does his assigned part, and no possible bit of material is overlooked. The floor and the walls, the furniture, threads of clothing, bloody rags, broken lights, fingerprints, anything that offers a possible suggestion is packed up in air-tight receptacles and taken back to the laboratory. Here everything is analyzed, and finally, the laboratory is able to give instructions to the detective whom to arrest, and what to look for, so that final and definite comparisons may be made.

"When we appear in court we do not confront the prisoners and probabilities," said M. Bell, chief of the laboratory. "We present proofs and facts. We explain exactly how the crime was committed. In 1,110 cases of crime, 1,677 imprints were made, securing 161,615 examinations and 4,775 photographic prints, and this work led to the positive identification of 125 criminals. Criminals who wash up blood stains now waste their time. In this laboratory blood stains 200,000 times can be traced whether the original stain was on a floor or a bit of cloth."

"Each man or woman has his or her distinctive heat and this is why bloodhounds are able to trace by smell," said the speaker. "The spectroscopic can be made to detect the light radiating from a given person, and if that person has passed through a room, unseen, at a given moment, this fact the machine will reveal. The fact that the person in question was in a state of excitement or not also will be recorded."

COTTON MARKET HAS BEEN OFF

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The cotton market has shown continued irregularity during the past week. Various factors have been brought into play by local traders as tending to strengthen confidence in the industry ultimate value of the staple. This, however, has remained subject to a feeling of uncertainty with reference to the absorption of cotton in the United States, and the action of prices has reflected the conflicting influences arising from such views of the situation. It is hardly expected that anything will have reached its height much before the middle of next month and traders feel that if the South continues to sell freely, the market will be called upon to absorb a good deal of cotton during the next three or four weeks.

This idea would seem to have been largely responsible for the apparent tendency of offerings to increase around or above the 22 cent level, while the bullish view of ultimate values is said to have brought buyers on the comparatively moderate declines. Among the bullish features considered responsible for the talk of higher prices later in the season, have been a reduction in private estimates of cotton exports, and the increasing active demand for cotton goods in the domestic markets, and expectations of increased exports based on reported offerings of cotton bills in the foreign exchange markets and decreasing stocks of American cotton abroad. The latter lost $5,000 bales at the counted points of England and Europe during the week, and Liverpool cables have reported a far demand from Lancashire spinners with a light demand from the Continent.

Advises received here from the South claim that large spot interests have been buying new crop cotton as rapidly as offered but this has been reflected in hedge selling in the futures markets which has helped to hold the advances in check. Nervousness over the European conditions was somewhat increased by reports of increased political unrest of the Near East toward the end of the week. Mid-month condition figures ranged from 49.4 to 52.6 and private crop indications from 3,300,000 to 10,282,000 bales.

NINJI TO HAVE HEALTH CENTRE

NINJI, Russia, Sept. 15.—A sanitary school where pupils will be instructed in cleanliness and the purposes of disinfection as a precautionary measure against conditions which may develop this coming winter has been organized here by Dr. Mark D. Godfrey, of Columbus, Ohio, in charge of medical work for the this district.

This step by Dr. Godfrey is a part of the nation-wide scheme inaugurated by the A. R. A. to blot out disease epidemics and clean up Russia, for which the American Red Cross has turned over $300,000 worth of medical supplies and disinfectant.

"Disinfecting and disinfecting have been poorly carried out everywhere in this government," explained Dr. Godfrey. "This was no doubt due to lack of materials. However, with the arrival of equipment and medical supplies the work is now progressing."

MURDER OF N. C. MAN REVEALED

AUGUSTA, Sept. 15.—A murder said to have been committed February 12, 1922, at Marietta, N. C., was revealed here today by Frank Summers, 35, who told local officers that on that date and at that place he had killed Manning Ford. He made a signed confession, according to the police.

Summers is being held in the local jail for North Carolina authorities on a charge of murder. He has waived extradition.

The story of the killing as told in the confession is in substance as follows:

"Ford visited his home and that fearing to disturb his (Summers) wife the men went out to the yard. A quarrel over whiskey resulted. Ford struck at him with a stick of light-wood and missed. Whereupon Summers picked up an axe and struck Ford over the head. Then, as Ford still lived, he took the body several yards from the house and placed it on the ground. There Ford died. Summers took the body a quarter of a mile further from the house and placed it just off the side of a little-used road. The murder was committed in Robinson county, North Carolina, but authorities there know nothing of it, according to Summers."

End Of Labor Trouble Seen

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(By The Associated Press.)—The beginning of the end of all the labor troubles that have from time to time beset the transportation lines of the nation for the past several years was believed by many railroad heads and union chiefs to have come today when the New York Central Lines made a peaceful settlement with two of the operating brotherhoods and the Pennsylvania system began negotiations toward a similar end. Arrangements for like conferences here next week between brotherhood leaders and six other big eastern carriers were under way tonight.

By today's agreement the various roads making up the New York Central system agreed to continue for one year beginning September 30, the present wage scale and working rules for their trainmen and conductors and to withdraw from the United States Labor Board their requests for a downward revision of wages and the elimination of time and a half pay for overtime work.

The New York Central gave out a statement indicating it would soon call into conference the leaders of the engineers and firemen in the hope of amicably coming to terms with them. Tomorrow that system will bring together its officials and leaders of the striking shopmen in the hope of ending the strike that began July first.

W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, announced here tonight that a conference in Pittsburgh today, the Pennsylvania had agreed to continue present wages to all four brotherhoods, but a "latter dispatch from Pittsburgh said this announcement was regarded there as premature, since conferences with trainmen and conductors would continue last night. While those with the engineers and firemen had not yet begun, brotherhood leaders, assembled here, said, however, they understood the Pennsylvania would follow the lead of the New York Central.

Meanwhile, negotiations to assure continued peace between the conductors and trainmen and the other big roads of the East and West are to be carried on here and in Chicago, Mr. Lee said. He told the press that the settlement of the Pennsylvania was the commencement of a clean up of all the troubles that have afflicted the country's transportation, said parleys between leaders of the trainmen and conductors and six other eastern roads would be held here and in Chicago, that on Tuesday he and L. E. Sheppard, head of the Order of Railway Conductors, expected to begin conferences with the western group of railroad executives in Chicago.

Looking towards agreements covering the future were broken off when the shopmen decided to strike.

Those in close touch with the situation hereafter, Mr. Lee said, are forecasting the complete smash-up of the war-born system of settling railroad labor troubles on a national basis and the return to the old method of letting each road arrange its own affairs with its own men. Some observers felt that this return to the old ways would soon be put into effect all over the country in individual efforts to settle the shopmen's strike, and that the newer habit of both employer and employee in taking their troubles to a national body would be broken, once and for all time.

"We are trying to get our wage problems and working conditions out of the hands of politicians," Mr. Lee said. "I told the President Harding and I'm telling you. The lawyers and politicians just want to make a record, but we fellows have been in this business a long time and we know how to handle it."

Railway labor never requested the passing of the Adamson 8-hour day law, though a large part of the public thinks so. President Wilson wanted it to avert the railroad strike which certainly would have come several years ago if it had not been for the law.

It isn't a real 8-hour-day law but is used as a basis for computing overtime. At the time the bill was under consideration I repeatedly asked several United States Senators whom I could name, but won't, to keep their hands off."

Mr. Smith, as head of various lines making up the New York Central System, halted the settlements as a "happening of a better end in the conduct of the transportation service" and as marking the "return to the formerly successful practice of adjusting difference in personal discussions across the conference tables."

Neither he nor the brotherhood leaders, who reached agreements with him directly criticized the U. S. Railroad labor board or the machinery for adjusting disputes that has been in operation during recent years, but all three were enthusiastic in their heralding of the return of the round table method of conducting business between employer and employee.

Tonight Mr. Lee and Mr. Sheppard left for their offices in Cleveland, after sending to Chicago a request that the western managers confer with them next Tuesday.

Tariff Bill Is Adopted In House

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—The House by a vote of 210 to 90 adopted today the conference report on the tariff bill. The measure had been reported back to the Senate, where it was made the unfinished business for tomorrow. Final legislative action before the end of the session was looked for by Republican leaders.

Three attempts were made in the House to get the bill back into conference for a third time, but two were blocked on points of order and the third was defeated by a direct vote, 193 to 108. The vote was on a motion by Representative Garner, Democrat, Texas, to instruct the House managers to insist on the original proposal of the House for a duty of 1.50 cents a pound on sugar in place of the 1.70 cents a pound agreed upon in conference.

On the roll call on final passage of the bill 14 Republicans voted in opposition and five Democrats in support. Democrats supporting the bill were Fayot, Louisiana; Lazaro and Martin, Louisiana; Hudspeth, Texas; and Lea, California.

Meyer London, New York, the single Socialist member, voted against the measure.

Thirty-four Republicans and Mr. London voted for the Garner motion for a reduction in the duty on sugar and nine Democrats voted against it. The Republicans included Clouse, Tennessee.

Democrats opposing the Garner motion were Aswell, Fayot, Lazaro, Martin, O'Connor and Wilson, all of Louisiana; Hudspeth, Texas; Lea, California; and Taylor, Colorado. Immediately after the conference report was called up, Representative Cooper, Republican, Wisconsin, made a point of order that in carrying out the explicit directions of the House to agree to the Senate amendment eliminating the duty on sugar, the House had exceeded its authority by changing the duties on coal tar dyes and synthetic chemicals. This point was overruled, Speaker Gillette, holding that the entire bill had been reopened to change when the House sent it back to conference.

Representative Garner then made a point of order that the conferees had exceeded their authority in proposing a reduction in the duty on sugar. American valuation in the case of all imports, whereas the Senate amendment involving the flexible tariff amendment to the House bill, had limited the duty on sugar to coal tar dyes and other coal tar products. This point of order was overruled promptly and debate began.

A request from Chairman Fordney, of the House managers, for unanimous consent for two "debits" was not met by a chorus of "noes," from the Republican side and specified objection from half a dozen Democrats. Consequently discussion was limited to one hour under the rule.

Chairman Fordney had explained that the conferees had carried out the House instructions, Representative Longworth, of Ohio, another of the Republican conferees, told the House he was disappointed by its action in ordering out the dye and potash duties because he was "firmly convinced" that without adequate protection the dye and potash industries, products of war's necessity, would die. He declared that no system of duties so matter high could protect against the "cut-throat" competition of Germany in the sale of chemicals in foreign countries.

Chairman Fordney, in closing the debate, declared that when the Democrats were found opposing a tariff bill, you know it's all right. He argued that history had shown when the duty on sugar was increased the price went down because home production was stimulated.

Bonus Bill Is Put To Harding

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Congress today passed the soldiers bonus bill along to President Harding.

The bonus action by the executive was anticipated, but opinion was divided as to whether he would veto or approve the measure still was divided. This question entered largely into the debate today which preceded Senate adoption of the conference report, 36 to 17.

Conceding that while the question of the President's attitude was as Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, expressed it, "up in the air," the measure would be returned to Congress early in the coming week. In that event it was the plan to bring up speedily in the House the question of overriding the veto. Opponents of the measure were confident that the necessary two-thirds majority could be obtained in the House as the House passed the bill by a majority of four to one. Admittedly, however, there was doubt about the situation in the Senate. Opponents claimed 34 Senators in opposition, two more than necessary to sustain the veto.

During Senate debate today, Senator Underwood, of Atlanta, referred to the bill as "the soldiers' veto." Senator Harrison said he had reports that "words has been passed down the line that the President is going to veto the bill." Senator McCumber told the Senate he still was in hope there would be no veto, reiterating his opinion that the measures as drawn met the objections of the President and the Secretary of Treasury to the original cash bonus plan.

Upon the presentation of the conference report Senator Harrison made a point of order that the conferees had exceeded their authority in eliminating the land reclamation option, which, in one form or another, had been approved by both the House and the Senate. After long debate the point of order was overruled by Senator Cummins, Iowa, president pro tempore, and the ruling was approved by the Senate 44 to 21.

Chairman Fordney and Senators Underwood and Harrison disagreed regarding the effect the inclusion of the Smith-McClary reclamation amendment would have had on the President's decision regarding the legislation.

Peace Pact Signed On B. & O. Railroad

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 15.—A peace pact, generally known as the Baltimore plan, was signed here this afternoon by Charles W. Galloway, vice president of the B. & O. Railway and representatives of the striking shopmen, employed on the B. & O. Practically all of the striking B. & O. shopmen are expected to be back at work within ten days.

Colonel Henderson Dies

AIKEN, S. C., Sept. 15.—Colonel C. K. Henderson, a leading citizen of Aiken and widely known throughout the state died here today after a short illness. Colonel Henderson was an ardent Confederate veteran and a member of the local brotherhood. It was his custom each year to celebrate the battles of Bull Run, with a dinner, at which he was host to the comrades of his camp.

BURLINGTON TO OPEN SEPT. 19
BURLINGTON, Sept. 15.—The Burlington tobacco market will open next Tuesday, September 19, according to an announcement made here Tuesday by local warehousemen. There are four warehouses, and members of them will sell under the new co-operative system, while the other two will maintain the former auction system.

HELD AS SLAYER

Tony Dinella, according to Kansas City, Kan., police, has confessed that he killed his two daughters, Helen, 14, and Flora, 11, with a hammer and threw their bodies in the Kaw River. The bodies were found in the Missouri River, where the current of the Kaw River had carried them.

Senator McCumber took the position that it would have "greatly endangered" the measure, while Senator Underwood and Harrison, declared it would have operated to influence the President in favor of the bill.

Senator Underwood said that with the reclamation provision in he would hesitate to vote to sustain a veto.

"The chances of having the bill signed depend upon how small the appropriation is for two or three years, returned Senator McCumber. "We could not get a tax bill through the House. The reclamation matter ought to be handled independently." As it goes to the President tomorrow, the bonus bill will provide for four options:

"Adjusted service pay if the veteran's adjusted service credit at the rate of $1 a day for domestic service and $1.25 a day for foreign service did not exceed $50.

"Vocational training aid at the rate of $1.75 a day after January 1, 1923, with the total payment limited to 140 per cent. of the adjusted service credit.

"Home and farm aid in an amount equal to the adjusted service credit increased by 25 per cent.

"Banks would be authorized to make loans on the service certificates during the first three years in amounts not to exceed 50 per cent. of the adjusted service credit, which credit would be limited to $500 in the case of veterans who had no foreign service and $625 to those who had foreign service. After three years the government would make loans on the certificates.

"The estimated cost of the bonus is approximately $4,000,000,000, which would be made a direct charge against the federal treasury, as no provision is made in the bill for financing.
